The Learning Center
TLC
Location: The Central King Building
G-22
Email: TLC@NJIT.edu
Phone: (973) 596-2992
Created by: Mr. Barry Broxton, TLC Associate Director
Agenda

❖ Welcome
❖ Introduction
❖ Culture & Life Roles
❖ Stages of College Development
❖ TLC Academic Success Manual
❖ Q&A
Defining Culture

Defining Life Roles
Culture is defined as shared values, beliefs, practices and goals.

Academic Perspective of Culture

- What is your culture while attending this workshop today?
- What are your shared values, beliefs, practices and goals?

References:
Based upon research conducted by the Life Solutions Network, many people are part of our lives; some are family, others are friends and yet others are people we work with.

Some of these people are part of our lives without choice such as family & co-workers and others we can choose (friends or your spouse).

We have many roles including son/daughter, husband/wife/partner, brother/sister, friend, student, co-worker and many more.

Our life roles are important and we need to think about them consciously.

References:
Stages of College Development
Stages of College Student Development

- Dependent
- Interdependent
- Independent (The Goal)

Arthur Chickering is an educational researcher and created theories relating to student development.

References
The Learning Center

Academic Success Manual

Created by: Mr. Barry Fitzgerald Broxton, MPA, MA

Associate Director, The Learning Center
TABLE OF CONTENTS

- Mission of the Academic Success Manual .................................................. 2
- Academic Self-Assessment ........................................................................... 3
- Creating Your Academic Toolbox ............................................................... 5
- Learning Styles ........................................................................................... 8
- College Stages of Development ................................................................. 9
- Where Do I Go For Tutoring @ NJIT ......................................................... 11
- NJIT On-Campus Support Services ............................................................ 14
- Additional Support Services ....................................................................... 15
- Quotes of Empowerment, Inspiration, Positivity & Wisdom ..................... 17
Welcome to The Learning Center (TLC)

On behalf of the staff in The Learning Center (TLC) at New Jersey Institute of Technology, I invite you to explore our website and visit our Learning Center located in the Central King Building (CKB) Room G-22. Our mission is to assist students both in the classroom and beyond by providing tutorial services, academic coaching, academic and personal enrichment workshops and staff and peer support so students can meet the demands of their coursework and are prepared for life after graduation. TLC staff is committed to providing group and individual instruction which leads to student success. Thank you for checking out our website and we look forward to meeting you in person when you visit The Learning Center. If you have any questions or comments, please contact us at tlc@njit.edu.
Any Questions

Thank you